

If Love's A Sweet Passion
 from "The Fairy Queen" Act. III

Henry Purcell (1658/9-1695)

p

If love's a sweet pas - sion why does it tor - ment? If a

If love's a sweet pas - sion why does it tor - ment? If a

If love's a sweet pas - sion why does it tor - ment? If a

If love's a sweet pas - sion why does it tor - ment? If a

1. 2. mf

bit - ter oh tell me whence comes my con - tent? If tent? Since I bit - ter oh tell me whence comes my con - tent? If tent? Since I

bit - ter oh tell me whence comes my con - tent? If tent? Since I

bit - ter oh tell me whence comes my con - tent? If tent? Since I suf - fer with plea - sure why shoud I com - plain or grieve at my suf - fer with plea - sure why shouls I com - plain or grieve at my

suf - fer with plea - sure why shouls I com - plain or grieve at my

suf - fer with plea - sure why shouls I com - plain or grieve at my cresc.

fate when I know tis in vain Yet so pleas-ing the pain is so foft is the

fate when I know tis in vain Yet so pleas-ing the pain is so foft is the fate when I know tis vain Yet so pleas-ing the pain is so foft is the fate when I know tis in vain Yet so -pleas-sing the pain is so foft is the f dart Yhat at once it both wounds me and tic - kles my heart p dart Yhat at once it both wounds me and tic - kles my heart

dart Yhat at once it both wounds me and tic - kles my heart

dart Yhat at once it both wounds me and tic - kles my heart